FUNERAL PROCESSION

Twenty-Five Thousand Miles Long—From the Mississippi Valley Every Year

STRING OF HEARSES WOULD SPAN THE EARTH

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 11.—A funeral procession 25,000 miles long, winding its dreary way entirely around the earth; an army of 500,000 pale, emaciated soldiers, a pyramid of coffins three times as tall as the tallest of the giant piles that have made Egypt famous. These are only a few of the reasons for the Mississippi Valley Conference on Tuberculosis, which meets here on Sept. 29th and 30th and Oct. 1st. They are "real" reasons too, that anyone will understand when it is pointed out that each year in the Mississippi Valley, 100,000 men, women and children fall victims to tuberculosis, sometimes known as consumption or the "white plague." Could these 100,000 funerals be held at one time, the string of hearses, carriages and pall bearers would make one gigantic, awe inspiring cortege, long enough to reach entirely around the earth and some to spare.

Anti-tuberculosis workers estimate that there are now living in the Mississippi Valley at least 500,000 persons now afflicted with the disease and that the coffins filled each year by the victims of this preventable malady would make a pile higher than any known structure of ancient or modern times.

For the purpose of co-ordinating the forces that direct the crusade against tuberculosis in the Mississippi Valley, and these agencies include state and city health boards, sanatorium heads, visiting nurses, newspaper men, club women and representatives, of anti-tuberculosis societies, more than 1,000 delegates from eighteen states will discuss the topic "The Best Tuberculosis Prevention" for three days at the Mississippi Valley Conference on Tuberculosis which meets here Sept. 29th and 30th and Oct. 1st.

There will be sub topics of course, but the general theme of the Conference will hinge on the old adage "An ounce of prevention is worth pounds of cure." Headquarters for the Conference have been opened at 210 Public Savings Bldg., this city, and any person in the Mississippi Valley interested in the prevention of tuberculosis, and the affairs of the coming meeting, is invited to communicate with the secretary at that address.

"TIN LIZZIE" A LIBEL, SAYS FLIVVER OWNER

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 11.—City Courts must decide whether a flivver is a "tin lizzie," or not, or vice versa, and if it's an insult to call one "lither," which is insulted, if not both.

It all arose when J. T. Jasper came into court to complain that neighbors across the street annoyed him by calling his car a "tin lizzie."

"I don't object to 'flivver,'" said Jasper.

WHAT HARD COAL MINERS DEMAND

Big Anthracite Agency Uses Union Demands, as Advertisement

One big anthracite coal agency in this city has placed a curious advertisement in the Coal Trade Journal. It consists of a front page setting forth verbatim the demands made on the anthracite operators by the United Mine Workers of America, to become effective April 1, 1916, when the present agreement expires. Not a word of comment accompanies the Union document. Presumably the advertiser chose this method of intimating to its customers that stocking up against the possible shortage of next spring might be expected to begin in the near future and that it might be as well for them to cover their requirements early.

If You are troubled with heartburn, gases and a distressed feeling after eating take a Rexall Dyspepsia Tablet before and after each meal and you will obtain prompt relief. Sold only by us. 25c. St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, Earlington, Ky.

A LITTLE LIKE SUNRISE

Courier Journal

The confession and conviction of "possum hunters" at Hartford has inspired among the law-abiding and wide-awake citizens of numerous counties in that section of the State hope that at last organized violence is at an end and progress has an opportunity. In several counties indictments were hard to procure a short time ago, because of the timidity of the grand jurors, or their sympathy with outlawry, and where they were returned it was not expected that prosecutions would be successful.

The situation in the "possum hunter" section looks now a little like sunrise. A Hopkinsville dispatch to a Nashville newspaper is in part as follows:

"While this immediate section has been almost entirely free from such disturbances since the quieting down of the night riders under the influence of Gov. Willson's troops, there have been wholesome outbreaks in some of the adjoining counties, and it is figured that the Hartford results cannot help but have a most salutary effect upon the trials that are to be held in nearly all of these counties upon indictments which have already been returned."

The sway of "possum hunters" indicated a lamentable social state of which ignorance of the importance of law and order in its bearing upon the value of the property, as well as the safety of the law-abiding element, was a striking feature. Actual perpetrators and supporters of crime were in a decided minority, of course, but the majority was timid, negligent or mistakenly sympathetic.

If the optimistic forecast of the Hopkinsville correspondent proves accurate the regeneration of the section will be worth millions to the owners of property in a part of the state where organized violence is exotic and imitative rather than native to the soil.

THE AMERICAN LABORING MAN AND THE SALOON

What Should be the Attitude of Labor Toward an Industry That Destroys Always and Never Produces?

They say that the liquor industry demands raw material giving employment to labor in manufacturing and distributing its product, and is, therefore, "good for business."

The San Francisco fire and earthquake created a demand for hundreds of dollars' worth of material and labor. Thousands of skilled workmen poured into San Francisco to rebuild that city. Business in some lines boomed.

Of course, therefore, the San Francisco earthquake was a fine thing for business. Would it not be a good thing for us to burn down all of our cities? Just think of the demand for labor and raw material which would result!

This is foolish, of course, but to support the manufacture and sale of liquors because it consumes some raw material and employs some labor is just as foolish as to advocate the burning of Chicago because the rebuilding of the city would require billions of dollars' worth of material and hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of labor.

The necessity of rebuilding a burned city imposes upon the country a tremendous drain of resources. All the people must be taxed to make good the worth of every day of labor and every bushel of grain used in the manufacture of liquors.

The laboring man cannot afford to ignore longer the fact that every dollar which goes into the saloon still represents an absolute and total economic loss of labor and material. Upon the working man is thrown the great part of the burden of making this good.

We would be fortunate if labor and raw material constituted the entire loss to America because of the liquor traffic. But we must not forget the lost windfall, the lost sanity, the lost health, the lost efficiency which follows the dollar across the bar.

TRAVELING MEN'S DAY AT THE FAIR

Much Enthusiasm Over Gathering and Big Delegations Will be Here.

Knights of the Grip are Exploiting the Fair All Over This Region

Saturday, October 2, will be Traveling Men's day at the Pen-yroyal Fair and big preparations are being made to have that one of the biggest successes of the entire fair. There are a large number of traveling men who reside in Hopkinsville and they are all enthusiastic over the proposition. But the matter will not end with them, for other traveling men all up and down the road will be enlisted, and as many of their customers as possible, to be here on that day and enter into the festivities.

All sorts of advertising will be done for this feature of the fair. Lithographs, banners and stickers will be left in every hotel, prominently displayed throughout this section of Kentucky and Tennessee, so as to attract the attention of all traveling men and other people as well. Stickers will be affixed to grips and trunks as the traveling men are at depots and hotels and they will put in every opportunity to pass the news along by word of mouth.

On that day it is expected that not less than two hundred traveling men will be here to take part in the gala occasion. These will meet at Hotel Latham on the morning of October 2, and at 10:30 they will form in line and headed by the Third Regiment band they will march to the fair grounds. Each traveling man will be appropriately tagged and at the fair grounds space will be reserved for them in the grandstand and every possible arrangement, looking to their pleasure and comfort will be made.

Saturday will be the concluding day of the fair which is always one of the most popular days, it will be Derby Day and with Traveling Men's day added it is assured that one of the largest crowds ever known here will attend.

A committee to perfect arrangements for Traveling Men's Day has been appointed as follows: J. W. Robertson, Guy Champion, Mr. Utley, Alex Boulware, L. H. Davis, F. K. Yost, Edgar Wyatt, F. H. Mason and Garner Dalton.

ENDORSED AT HOME Such Proof as This Should Convince Any Earlington Citizen

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger, can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow-citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience when it is for the public good is an act of kindness that should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Earlington adds one more to the many cases of Home Endorsement which are being published about Doan's Kidney Pills. Read it.

Moore Davis, butcher, Earlington, says: "For quite a while I had been afflicted with weak kidneys and my back ached intensely. I got Doan's Kidney Pills from the St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, and they cured me in a short time." Price 50c at all dealers. The Scrap Book

He Delivered It.

A boy walked into the office of the telegraph company at Chicago and asked for a job. He said his name was Missouri. The manager happened to want a messenger boy just at that moment and gave him a message that had to be delivered in a hurry.

"Here's your chance, my boy," said the manager, "these people have been kicking about undelivered messages. Now, don't come back until you have delivered it."

A little while afterward the telephone rang. On the other end of the wire there appeared to be a building watchman, somewhat terrified.

"Have you got a boy they call Missouri?" inquired the watchman.

"We did have ten minutes ago," replied the manager.

"That Missouri fellow came over here and said he had to go to one of the offices. We don't allow no one up at that office at this hour, and I told him he couldn't go."

"Yes, yes," said the manager.

"Well," said the watchman, "he said he would go, and I had to pull my gun on him."

"But you didn't shoot him?" exclaimed the manager.

"No," meekly came back the response over the wire, "but I want my gun back."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Hope.

There is no grave on earth's broad chart
But has some bird to cheer it.
So hope sings on in every breast,
Although we may not hear it.
And if today the heavy wing
Of sorrow is oppressing
Perchance tomorrow's sun may bring
The weary heart a blessing.

The Abducted Voter.

A Londoner of pronounced Tory principles had a wife with strong radical tendencies. On the morning of a contest in which every vote was of the utmost importance his better half insiduously suggested over breakfast that they should enjoy what promised to be a glorious day by driving in the country.

The husband readily consented, and after a pleasant outing they returned in the evening just as 8 o'clock was chiming. Then said the wife sweetly, "It is too late now, dear, to vote in this election."

"Yes," was the reply, "but I voted at 8 o'clock this morning, before you came downstairs."—London Tatler.

Time to Call a Halt.

"One night an esteemed citizen was enjoying his after dinner smoke and evening paper when little Willie rambled into his room wearing a perplexed expression.

"Papa," said he, "why is it that people of Africa are black?"

"Because, my boy," was the prompt rejoinder of the old man, "they are always in the sun."

"Um, I see," thoughtfully commented Willie, and then continued, "Papa, why do people hang clothes out on the line?"

"So that the sun will bleach them white, of course," answered father, once more returning to his paper.

"Then, papa," persisted Willie, his look of perplexity getting deeper, "why is it?"

"Cut out the talk!" broke in father.

"Can't you see that I am busy?"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

A steamboat captain who has spent fifty years with the Hudson River Day line is responsible for the following:

"A lot of passengers who had arrived in Albany by train came aboard early one morning," he says. "The boat was crowded, and many of them stretched themselves out on deck to sleep until sailing time. We hadn't got far out of Albany when a much dismayed man came up to me.

"I've lost my shoes," says he.

"How'd you do that?" says I.

"I put 'em in a cupboard," says he.

"Cupboard?" says I.

"Yes," says he. "When I come on the boat I went to lie down, so I naturally takes my shoes off. So I seen a cupboard, and I put 'em inside. Now the shoes ain't there."

"Show me the cupboard," says I.

"The man led me to the starboard paddlewheel box, which had been left open as usual during the night to permit inspection.

"I put the shoes right in there on one of them shelves," says my man from up state.

"You don't need to be told what happened, for the shelves were the paddle blades, and the very first revolution of the shaft had dumped the passenger's footgear into the Hudson."—New York Post.

Colonel E. Volk Johnson of Louisville, who fought for the Confederacy, read something in the dispatches from the front the other day that reminded him very much of what happened when he was serving in the western army.

"I remember it was a wet, cold, rainy night in the middle of winter," said the veteran, "when a long, lean chap in my regiment was ordered to go on picket duty. He thought the situation over for a minute, and then he turned to the sergeant who had brought the message. 'You go right, straight back where you come from,' he drawled, 'and tell the cap'n I just natchelly can't do it. I got a letter from G'n'ral Bragg this mornin', and he said good men was gittin' mighty scarce in this here army and for me to take good care of myself.'—Argosy.

"Have used your Liniment very successfully in a case of rheumatism, and always have a bottle on hand in case of a cold or sore throat. I wish to say I think it one of the best of household remedies. I would not have used it only it was recommended to me by a friend of mine who, I wish to say, is one of the best doctors for your Liniment I ever saw."—J. W. Fuller, Denver, Colo.

"Just a line in praise of Sloan's Liniment. I have been ill nearly fourteen weeks with rheumatism; have been treated by doctors who did their best. I had not slept for the terrible pain for several nights when my wife got me a small bottle of the Liniment and three applications gave me relief so that I could sleep."—Joseph Tamblin, 615 Commerce Street, McKeesport, Pa.

Don't Make Curiosity Telephone Calls

It is beyond the bounds of possibility to answer promptly the mass of curiosity telephone calls that threaten to swamp our exchanges every time there is a large fire.

Calls for physicians, the ambulance or the police, held up at such times might result in the loss of human life.

For your protection, as well as for the protection of your neighbors, we ask you not to call the telephone operator merely out of curiosity. After all, she has no more information than you have.

COLORED COLUMN

Rev. H. H. Amos, who has lived in this city for twenty five years, died last Friday and was buried Sunday. The funeral was held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Amos, at 1015 N. 1st St.

Rev. Evans officiated at the funeral services of Rev. Amos. Nannie Kiser was in Indian.

Poor, helpless, hopeless, sick, suffering, miserable woman. Sick because she doesn't know any better. Sick because the organs that make her a woman are not properly performing their functions and so are sending nerve messages with aches and pains and distress all over her quivering body. The cause of women's sickness comes from disorder of these special organs. The symptoms are various—the cause the same. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the remedy for the headache, backache, nervousness, wakefulness, neuralgia and fifty other troubles of women which can always be traced directly to feminine weakness or disease. Thousands of women right here in Kentucky, after years of discouragement, have written to Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and now thank him for their renewed health and happiness. It is a medicine devised to cure one certain kind of disease—female disease. It brings ease and comfort and sleep. It restores perfect health. It fills out cheeks, brightens the eyes, puts vim and energy into the whole body. It is a wonderful prescription prepared only from nature's roots with glycerine, with no alcohol to falsely stimulate. It drives out pain, headache, low spirits, hot flashes, dragging-down sensations, worry and sleeplessness surely and without loss of time. Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Address Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. The modern improvement in pills—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They help Nature instead of fighting with her.
